REMEMBER THIS

Much of my skill set is self taught. This includes sculpting, a comprehensive understanding of anatomy , web design, and improving my 3-D abilities. Given minimal direction, I am able to create wonderful designs. I love a challenge, whether working in a team or working independently. My personal interests range from a passion for video gaming to studying the history of ancient civilizations to collecting classical jazz LPs. This is just a bit of the diversity that I possess as a person, and these are just some of the things that inspire me to strive to become a prolific artist.
